Alien Creature: a visitation from Gwendolyn MacEwen is inspired by MacEwen's life and work, yet is an entirely new creation. MacEwen, as evoked by Linda Griffiths, returns to a modern world one night, bringing images and a prophetic movefanatic.coms: 3. On Wednesday I saw Alien Creature: a visitation from Gwendolyn MacEwen at Theatre Passe Muraille. Linda Griffiths wrote the play in , and it's actually quite depressing how relevant and topical it is 27 years later. Not that the play is depressing; just how little the challenges of living as an artist in Toronto have changed. Alien Creature a visitation from Gwendolyn MacEwen is a densely written play packed with illusions to MacEwen's darker side; many moments of self-deprecating humour and magic. This complex play cries out for simplicity in the production so as to realize the inner points. Alien Creature – A Visitation from Gwendolyn MacEwen by Linda Griffiths Gwendolyn MacEwen was one of Canada's greatest poets and Linda Griffiths was one of Canada's finest playwrights. Griffiths has created a magical text of story-telling in which the ghost of MacEwen visits a contemporary audience to tell tales of her life, her work, her inspiration – and her death.
