The item The religion of China: Confucianism and Taoism, Max Weber ; translated and edited by Hans H. Gerth represents a specific, individual, material embodiment of a distinct intellectual or artistic creation found in Indiana State Library. It also led him to the study of bureaucracy; all of the world's major religions; and capitalism, which he viewed as a product of the Protestant ethic. With his contemporary, the French sociologist Emile Durkheim they seem not to have known each other's work he created modern sociology.
